Summary

As an IT student at Quaid-e-Awam University of Engineering, Sciences and Technology Nawabshah, I am learning and applying the latest technologies and innovations in the field of information technology. My main area of interest is Fronted Web Development which I have demonstrated in my academic projects and assignments, where I have used HTML CSS and JavaScript to develop and test various models and Websites.

In addition to my studies, I am also working as a teacher at Sys Tech, where I teach basic computer skills and programming to students and professionals. This experience has enabled me to develop my management and communication skills, as well as to share my knowledge and passion for IT with others. I am also proficient in Sindhi language, which gives me an edge in communicating with local communities and stakeholders. My goal is to use my IT expertise and skills to contribute to the development and improvement of the IT sector and society at large.
